WILSON'S REPORT IS MADE PUBLIC

Spent Total of $114,742,-916.50—Russian Items Among Largest.

President Wilson spent $15,850.523.67 for investigations, propagands, relief work and the operation of railroads in Russia in 1217 and 1918, according to a partial accounting of the $150,000.000 national defense fund granted him by Congress during the war.

The partial report was made public yesterday. It set forth the amounts allocated by the President the Treasury Houston informed Congress.

The report was in response to a resolution of Congress requesting the President to render an accounting of the $150,000,000. Total disbursements under the fund were $114,742,918.50, with an additional balance of $8,598,845.27 of authorized expenditures not accounted for on February 15, 1521. The remainder of the fund, or $28,658,228.23, was turned back to the Treasury.

Russian Expenditures.

Expenditures in Russia were among the largest items in the list. They included $4,500,000 for the operation of the Siberian Raliroad and $10,000,000 for purchase of supplies for the Russian people, one-half of the amount having been spent in the Archangel district.

Other items included in the Russian expenditures were $1,000,000 in 1917.

In addition to the $15,850,522,67
President Wilson reported that he had authorized American army commanders in France to spend $50,000 to repatriate the Polish army which fought the Russian Bolshevist army. Other expenditures reported by President Wilson included

For reconditioning ships, including the seized German and Austrian vessels, $27,011,852.84.

For purchase of the North German Lloyd docks at Hoboken, N. J., $7,-

For expenses of Bernard M. Ba ruch, technical advised to the American Peace Commission, $150,000. Undecided on Accounting.

The partial report showed that President Wilson used the fund largely as a revolving fund to finance the various departments of the Federal government, from time to time allotting them funds which were repaid to the $150,000,000 fund. No complete accounting of the ex-penses of the American Peace Commission was included in the report.
